

I am a K-LOVE listener here in NC. I have been for the last 4 years and I totally enjoy it. In our area here we have one other Christian radio station that has to operate in 16 different frequencies in both FM and AM to reach only partial coverage in our area. This doesn't even cover my area alone in our town. If K-Love were to be replaced by an LPFM broadcaster than Christian contemporary radio would be dead in our area. Our town which is growing steady would not hear the hope that Klove gives to people. It is entirely a listener supported station without commercials. It is reached here only by translator signals which these stations can be broadcast by. Otherwise the cost of having a transmitter is very expensive. This is only how these type of stations to which KLOVE is a part of can exist.

It is in the public interest that KLOVE signal will not be replaced by a LPFM station. KLOVE is a priority in our home and car. I don't have to change the station for fear that dj's will say something my child should not hear. It is the only station in our area I can do that. Take this comment seriously please.
